

How much of the spread is the query, not the run variance of log execution time, split between instances of a template and replications of one instance